10/1/15	[REDACTED] called EO Office and spoke to Laura	[REDACTED] is a participant in the [REDACTED] program and has been partnered with [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] indicated that he felt he was experiencing discrimination based upon his trans identity. On Sept. 17 th , [REDACTED] said he attended [REDACTED] "Safe Zones" from 8am to 12pm. During the latter half, [REDACTED] says that he sat on a panel of trans, non-binary, and queer students, staff and community members. He shared that he was queer and transgender and answered questions from the audience. According to [REDACTED], his work colleagues started to treat him differently once he disclosed his sexual orientation. Prior to his disclosure [REDACTED] claims that he had a friendly relationship with his work colleague [REDACTED], but that [REDACTED] stopped speaking to him, stopped making eye contact with him and sat rigid with closed off body language in [REDACTED] presence.

		[REDACTED] also shared that on Sept. 18th, he was locked out of the [REDACTED] office around 8am. He mentioned that he knocked on the door and called the front desk phone but didn't receive a response. [REDACTED], another work colleague, was outside and saw that [REDACTED] was locked out. [REDACTED] had keys so he opened the door and let [REDACTED] inside. [REDACTED] says that once he stepped inside, he saw [REDACTED] and [REDACTED], two work colleagues, in [REDACTED] office which is next to the front desk phone. They didn't seem surprised that [REDACTED] had been trying to get in but never opened the door for him. Laura indicated that SGS and MC typically handle discrimination concerns and that they would pass [REDACTED] information onto MC and SGS.
10/2/15	Laura forwarded [REDACTED] contact information to MC.
10/2/15	[REDACTED], [REDACTED] sends Laura an email and asks to set up a meeting to discuss possible discrimination experienced by [REDACTED] as an [REDACTED] member
10/2/15	MC calls [REDACTED]	[REDACTED] recounts the behavior of his colleagues once he discloses that he is transgender. He shares that his colleagues no longer talk to him and are very distant. He also recounts being locked out of the office and feeling very uncomfortable because [REDACTED] and [REDACTED], two of his colleagues, were in the office and did not open the door for him. [REDACTED] feels that his colleagues are treating him differently because of his trans identity. Beforehand [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] would talk and joke around and were friendly but that has all stopped. [REDACTED] describes the work environment as "unsafe". MC tells [REDACTED] that he will talk to [REDACTED] and Sue to determine next steps. MC and [REDACTED] also discuss [REDACTED] possibly working upstairs in a different office since he feels unsafe in the current office.
10/5/15	Laura responds to [REDACTED] email and informs [REDACTED] that MC will be handling the matter. Laura gives [REDACTED] MC's contact info.
